

CARSON SCHOLARS: HEROES AMONG US

CARSON SCHOLARS FUND | 2022 ANNUAL REPORT

“Education is the fundamental principle of what makes America a success. It is the foundation of what truly makes our country ‘the Land of Opportunity.’”

Dr. Benjamin S. Carson

A Message from Dr. & Mrs. Ben Carson

It is our belief that knowledge is our most valuable currency. One never knows when the opportunity will arise for a bit of knowledge to become significant. Reading, learning and telling stories allow a society to reference what has come before, develop empathy and trigger one’s imagination; often driving a passion for a purpose and the development of wisdom. A healthy human brain stores everything learned, seen and heard. It helps us understand and appreciate our past, improve our present and imagine our future.

At the Carson Scholars Fund (CSF) we celebrate knowledge. For children it is critical that we impart knowledge, encourage them to seek it and reward them as they use knowledge in positive ways.

We live in a world where influencers are revered. If they like a product we buy it; if they challenge us we meet the challenge. This is especially true for the youngest members of our society, where social media and the internet are part of their daily lives early on. Being cognizant of how we influence children is critical as they become influencers themselves.

The Carson Scholars Program is designed to recognize and reward young students who excel academically and participate in community service. Our criteria are designed to engage students early in their academic careers and motivate them to continue, ultimately becoming compassionate leaders and positive influencers. We partner with educators who nominate students they know possess the leadership qualities we hope to foster.

These past couple of years have provided a unique learning opportunity for all. We have been amazed, impressed and inspired by our scholars. Not only did they stand up to the challenge of learning in a whole new way, they thrived. They used their knowledge to problem solve. Scholars sought ways to help their peers and the most vulnerable in their communities. Rising to the challenge, scholars’ actions generated complicated solutions, from constructing mobile apps and starting non-profits to old-fashioned labor, such as packing boxes and doing yard work for an elderly neighbor. We continue to seek and celebrate compassionate leadership.

Due to your generosity and support, we are able to provide an instrument through our scholarship program that provides financial support to continue education. But, perhaps more importantly, as we have heard from Carson Scholar alumni consistently throughout the years, is the recognition and reinforcement the award provides. The award gives students hope for the future and encouragement to continue working hard and pursuing their dreams. As these children grow and learn, the hope is that they will transform from learners to being leaders.

Our second mission, the Ben Carson/Think Big Reading Project, is another vehicle through which the CSF celebrates knowledge. The project focuses on combating illiteracy at its core and giving every child an opportunity to feel confident in their world. The hope is that inspiring children to love reading early will provide a channel of opportunity for growth and seeking knowledge. Reading rooms open a world of possibilities for students, their families and their communities.

We look forward to continuing to partner with each of you to celebrate knowledge. Like a small bit of knowledge, actions which sometimes seem small are often the catalyst that lead to significant discoveries.

“We’re looking to you young people to become the leaders of our society and to make the right choices.” – Dr. Ben Carson

The CSF staff was elated to host in-person celebrations and see our scholars once again this year! We came back with a bang and created the first ever CSF original movie, “Carson Scholars: Heroes Among Us,” featuring our very own 2022 scholars. After the film, Dr. Carson started his address to the group by saying, “We knew you were out of this world from reading your applications.” The pun referred to the two main characters of the film who hailed from the planet Gravity. The duo came to earth seeking the best and the brightest. Throughout the film, Carson Scholars were showcased for their incredible academic achievements, talents and community services initiatives.

Scholars were invited to view the movie at seven exclusive premieres throughout the country. They were honored with accolades in front of their families, peers, educators and supporters at the event. Scholars sported blue CSF capes and medals to show off their hero status.

It was a privilege to spotlight our brilliant and kindhearted scholars on the silver screen. Time and time again these students prove that Carson Scholars truly are heroes among us!

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Frank Casagrande,

Thank you so much for your support and encouragement. I really appreciate your donation. When I grow up I want to open my own non-profit to help underserved communities get access to financial literacy education. I hope to attend Chapel Hill when I graduate and major in finance. At School in the president of The Positivity Project, Speech and debate and in the Vice president of National Honor Society. I have a servant heart and I love to help better my community in a positive way! I hope you have a wonderful day!!

Sincerely,
Sydney Acie

Dear Carson Scholars Fund,

First of all, I am very honored to be receiving this scholarship. The amount of work put in to serving my community was payed back through the smiles of the people I have helped, so this is just the icing on the cake. I plan to use this opportunity to go into the medical field in the future, and work on improving the world with health, medical, and mental advances. It's a far fetched goal, but if receiving this scholarship has said anything, I have proven that hard work leads to greatness. I couldn't have found my goals with out kind people like you.

Sincerely,
Andrew Vu

Dear Ms. Karen Zeliff,

Thank you for helping support my education! I am looking to pursue early childhood education in my future. I am so grateful that this scholarship will help aid me on this journey. Currently my favorite subjects in school are Calculus and physics. Outside of school I do competitive dance, community theater, and Girl Scouts. I love performing for and helping others. Thank you again for helping encourage me to continue working hard and reaching towards my goal! Being a Carson Scholar means a lot to me.

Sincerely,
Tiffany Gardner
