BEN CARSON READING PROJECT PALM BEACH COUNTY READING ROOMS

Designed to combat illiteracy and promote leisure reading
as a key to unlocking
a child's full potential!

COVER: PLEASANT CITY ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The Ben Carson Reading Project has reached over 132,000 students in 23 states and Washington, DC, purchased over 142,000+ high interest books and invested over $4 million dollars in the program. There are 286 rooms nationwide including 35 in Palm Beach County, Florida.

Ben Carson Reading Rooms are cheerful, vibrant, relaxing, and often whimsical spaces created for leisure reading.

Switching students from regular desks to cozy bean bag chairs helps them relax, which boosts their mood and enthusiasm for reading on their own. Ever since we set up the first reading room in Palm Beach County at Allamanda Elementary School back in 2014, creating a peaceful haven for literacy has been our way of showing students just how important independent reading is in their daily lives.”
